Choose ONE starch only

Choose 1 sensible portion

Easy Extras

- Unlimited low-calorie salad
- Unlimited non-starchy vegetables
- 60–80 g cottage cheese
- 200–250 ml low-fat milk
- 1 tbsp low-cal mayo

Vegetables are the free-volume filler

TRAINING DAY ADJUSTMENTS

Normal / Rest Day

- Choose breakfast, lunch and dinner as normal
- If a meal includes starch, choose ONE only
- Do not add extra starch because it is available
- Use unlimited low-calorie veg to stay full

Hard Training Day

- Breakfast: oats can be your starch
- Lunch: choose ONE measured starch portion
- Before a late run: 1 medium banana if needed
- Dinner: butternut only if it is your ONE starch
- Training adds fuel - never a second starch at the same meal

BUILD YOUR LUNCH

1 protein portion + 1 STARCH portion + unlimited salad / veg

ONE starch means pasta OR butternut OR wrap - never combine two.

Keep it simple. Repeat what works.

TAKEAWAY RULES

1 Choose grilled over fried

2 ONE starch only

3 Sauce on the side + add veg

4 One meal - not a whole weekend

GOOD TREATS — maximum twice a week

Dark chocolate

20 g / about 2 blocks

Ice cream

1 small serving / about 100 ml

Frozen yoghurt

100–120 g

Cappuccino

1 small, preferably with low-fat milk

Popcorn

1 mini pack

Skinny hot chocolate

1 small serving. Use a SKINNY / no-added-sugar powder.

Examples: NOMU Skinny or Lifestyle Food Skinny Hot Choc.

! IMPORTANT

Low-fat milk alone does NOT make standard hot chocolate 'skinny'.

Two treats per week = two treat occasions, not two of each.

TREAT RULES

1 Choose 1 treat portion

2 Enjoy it slowly

3 Do not stack treats on the same day

4 Get back to the plan at the next meal

Treats fit — just not every day.

MEAL PREP YOUR WAY

Pick the prep style that fits your week.

WEIGH BEFORE COOKING

- Chicken, mince, beef, fish and butternut = RAW weight.
- Pasta and oats = DRY weight.
- Tuna = DRAINED weight.
- Low-calorie non-starchy vegetables and salad = UNLIMITED. Do not weigh them.

1 FULL BATCH PREP

About 90 minutes
once a week.

Best for: very busy weekdays.

- 1 Portion your protein RAW before cooking, or weigh the full raw batch and divide by portions afterwards.
- 2 Example: 900 g raw chicken = 6 portions of 150 g.
- 3 Cook 2 proteins, eg. chicken + lean mince.
- 4 Roast 3-4 portions of butternut: 150-200 g RAW per portion.
- 5 Boil 6-8 eggs.
- 6 Wash/chop salad veg; keep it separate and add freely.
- 7 Pack the first part of the week. Freeze later-week cooked protein portions once cooled rather than keeping the whole week in the fridge.

2 SPLIT PREP

45-60 minutes
twice a week.

Best for: fresher meals and more variety.

SUNDAY: prep Mon-Wed.

- 1 3 x 150 g RAW protein portions.
- 2 2-3 measured carb portions if needed.
- 3 Boiled eggs / snacks.
- 4 Wash salad veg.
- 5 Pack into containers.

WEDNESDAY/THURSDAY:
prep the rest of the week.

- 1 3 x 150 g RAW protein portions.
- 2 2-3 measured carb portions if needed.
- 3 Boiled eggs / snacks.
- 4 Wash salad veg.
- 5 Pack into containers.

3 COMPONENT / MIX-AND-MATCH PREP

Best for: families or anyone who hates identical meal boxes.

- 1 Prep components, not complete meals.
- 2 Protein 1: chicken.
- 3 Protein 2: mince, beef or fish.
- 4 Carb option: butternut or wholewheat pasta.
- 4 Unlimited salad / non-starchy veg.
- 6 Cottage cheese, tuna, wraps and sauces ready to grab.
- 7 Daily formula: 1 protein portion + 1 carb portion when the plan calls for it + unlimited veg.
- 8 Cook family food simply, then add richer sauces/cheese to other family members' plates after your portion is served.

4 MINIMAL / NO-BOX PREP

Best for: people who prefer cooking fresh.

- 1 Divide raw chicken, mince and beef into 150 g freezer portions.
- 2 Keep fish in 150-180 g portions.
- 3 Boil a few eggs.
- 4 Keep tins of tuna, wraps, crackerbread, cottage cheese, bananas and protein shakes on hand.
- 5 Keep bagged salad and frozen low-calorie veg ready.
- 6 Cook one fresh protein at dinner and make enough for tomorrow's lunch.

BATCH PORTION CHEAT SHEET

600 g raw protein
= 4 x 150

750 g raw protein

900 g raw protein

800 g raw butternut

300 g dry pasta

THE EASIEST RULE

ONE STARCH PER MEAL - NEVER TWO.

Prep protein and starches separately. Choose ONE measured starch at a meal; vegetables stay flexible and unlimited. protein, measured carbs and snacks. Vegetables can stay flexible and unlimited.
