PICK THE PREP STYLE THAT FITS YOUR WEEK.

WEIGH BEFORE COOKING

- Chicken, mince, beef, fish and butternut = RAW weight.
- Pasta and oats = DRY weight.
- Tuna = DRAINED weight.
- Low-calorie non-starchy vegetables and salad = UNLIMITED.

1 FULL BATCH PREP

Best for very busy weekdays.

- Portion protein RAW before cooking.
- Example: 900 g raw chicken = 6 portions of 150 g.
- Cook 2 proteins.
- Roast 3-4 portions of butternut.
- Boil 6-8 eggs.
- Wash/chop salad veg.
- Freeze later-week portions if needed.

2 SPLIT PREP

Best for fresher meals and more variety.

- Sunday: prep Mon-Wed.
- 3 x 150 g raw protein portions.
- 2-3 measured carb portions if needed.
- Boil eggs / prepare snacks.
- Wash salad veg.
- Wednesday/Thursday: prep the rest.

3 COMPONENT / MIX-AND-MATCH

Best for families or anyone who hates identical meal boxes.

- Prep components, not complete meals.
- Protein 1: chicken.
- Protein 2: mince, beef or fish.
- Carb: butternut or wholewheat pasta.
- Keep cottage cheese, tuna, wraps and sauces ready.
- Daily formula: 1 protein + 1 starch when called for + unlimited veg.

4 MINIMAL / NO-BOX PREP

Best for people who prefer cooking fresh.

- Divide raw chicken, mince and beef into 150 g freezer portions.
- Keep fish in 150-180 g portions.
- Boil a few eggs.
- Keep tuna, wraps, crackerbread, cottage cheese, bananas and shakes on hand.
- Keep bagged salad and frozen low-calorie veg ready.
- Cook fresh at dinner and make enough for tomorrow's lunch.

THE EASIEST RULE: PREP PROTEIN AND STARCHES SEPARATELY. CHOOSE ONE STARCH PER MEAL.

Vegetables stay flexible and unlimited. Simple prep. Repeatable habits. Real life.
